About the Company:

Malhari Projects Pvt. Ltd.: Transforming Agriculture with Eco-Friendly Stubble Solutions

Malhari Projects Pvt. Ltd. embarked on a mission to combat the urgent agricultural issue of stubble disposal. They addressed the challenges faced by farmers, crop traders, and mandli (market committees) who grappled with storing or disposing of bulk agricultural waste, often resorting to the harmful practice of stubble burning.

Malhari Projects introduced a groundbreaking solution—a unique machine capable of converting this waste into non-toxic air right at its source. This innovation not only curbs the environmental repercussions of stubble burning but also significantly reduces waste handling costs for all stakeholders involved.

Their value proposition includes a 50% reduction in waste handling charges, an impressive one-third decrease in energy consumption, and a complete absence of emissions. With three successful proofs of concept, an exceptional energy efficiency of 0.4 KW/Kgs, and commitments for processing 30 Tons Per Day (TPD), Malhari Projects' technology has gained approval from State Pollution Control Boards and the Central Pollution Control Board.
